TWO FORMER HUSBANDS OF
CHICAGO WOMAN POISONER

CHICAGO—Discovery of large quantities of arsenic in the body of Frank Kuysezyk, former husband of Mrs. Tillie Klimmek, confessed poisoner of her husband, Joseph Klimmek who lies at the point of death in West Side hospital, was announced Thursday by W. H. Halton, coroner's chemist, in a report to Coroner Peter M. Hoffman.

Simultaneously, the coroner said he had received an anonymous telephone message from a woman, who urged him to examine the body of Mrs. Klimmek's first known husband, Joseph Klimmek, saying: "You will find plenty of arsenic in him." The chemist's report, together with the new evidence pointing to a third poisoning, will be laid before State's Attorney Crowe Friday, said Coroner Hoffman, with a request that he aid in the investigation.

STANDARD OIL FIRM
OPENS ATTACK UPON
BADGER MARKET ACT

Company Fights Order Directing it to Discontinue Rebate Practices

VALIDITY OF ENTIRE MARKET
LAW INVOLVED IN THE SUIT

Discrimination is Charged by State Marketing Bureau

MADISON, Wis.—The Standard Oil company of Indiana opened its attack on the Wisconsin marketing department Friday before Judge Oscar Fritz of Milwaukee, sitting in the Dane county circuit court. Validity of the entire marketing law enacted by the 1921 legislature and legality of a special department order against the Standard Oil company are involved in the trial.

The opening fire of the oil company, which is plaintiff in the action, is directed against an order issued in March, 1922, directing it to discontinue a practice of rebating on prices to certain Wisconsin dealers. This department of markets held was a discrimination between dealers and an attempt at price fixing.

Witnesses were called by the company today to show that contracts entered into with dealers, were agency contracts, and the dealers agents of the company. As a consequence, it is claimed by the plaintiff, that its sale of gasoline to these agents at a lower price than to other dealers, is not a discrimination.

The Standard Oil company contention is that the special order directed against it was issued without due process of law, and the order making power of the department of markets invalid because issued without permitting recourse to law.

Examination of witnesses by state was held to establish its claim that gasoline was being sold in Wisconsin at varying prices to different dealers, resulting in a discrimination that is held illegal by the state marketing law.

While the attack by the Standard Oil company may be confined to the special department order directed against it, under the complaint it may carry its case against the entire marketing law, the constitutionality of which is questioned.

Oral agreements will be commenced after examination of witnesses, J. V. Quarles, Milwaukee and Harry L. Butler, Madison, are representing the oil company, and Alvin C. Reis, attorney in the department markets, is representing the state.

MRS. OLE P. ANDAAS
WINS ROUND IN HER
FIGHT FOR ESTATE

Proceedings to Enforce Terms of Alleged Ante-Nuptial Contract Dismissed by Brindley

SHE ADMITS SIGNING PAPER REPRESENTED AS NOT BINDING

Son Sought to Have Court Establish Contents of Contract

MRS. MAREN ANDAAS has won her fight in probate court for her share in the estate of her late husband, Ole P. Andaa, a farmer in Spring Grove, town of Holland. The case hinged on an alleged ante-nuptial contract that Mrs. Andaa is said to have signed, by which Andaa was to give his wife $400 and she was to waive all dower and other interests in his property upon his death. After Andaa's death some time ago, his son by a first marriage, Julius Peterson Andaa, administrator of the estate, petitioned County Judge Brindley, through his lawyers, Baldwin & Boshard, to establish the contents of the alleged contract, which had been lost and could not be produced in court.

Widow Explains Paper

Mrs. Andaa, through her attorneys, Hibbs & Swenson, admitted that there had been a paper signed by her shortly after her marriage, Mrs. Andaa said that her husband took her to C. L. Hood's office and the ante-nuptial contract was drawn up. When it was read to her by Hood, she couldn't understand it, she said, because she knew practically no English and Hood could not speak Norwegian. Her husband, she said, explained the contents to her, whereupon she refused to sign. Then her husband, she testified, told her the paper was not binding and its terms could not be enforced and could be invalidated at any time. Upon that explanation, Mrs. Andaa says she signed a paper.

One witness at the trial said that Andaa had told him of the existence of the paper at one time but that Andaa had said it did not now exist as he had destroyed it.

Decision of Court

"An ante-nuptial contract changes the course which property would take if no contract had been made, the same as a will does," said Judge Brindley in his opinion, "and, like a will, it must be proved. There is no doubt but that an ante-nuptial contract could legally be made that would leave the widow much less or much more than she would receive had no such contract been made, but if this contract was made to give the widow $400 only, and there was nothing in it showing that she waived all dower interest or other interest, and nothing in it to provide for her living after his death, it is questionable whether it would not be, on account of its being so small, over-reaching, but that is a matter which it is not necessary in this case I think for me to determine.

"In this case the contract made had been lost, and I think there is sufficient evidence of the search for it and the failure to find it which would permit the introduction of testimony of its existence and contents. There is no testimony of any one who ever read the contract or of any one else who ever saw it except Mrs. Andaa, the widow of Ole Peterson Andaa. In fact, substantially the only testimony in the case is that of the widow given on the trial, and the testimony of witnesses as to the statements of the widow to them as to the terms of the contract and the fact that she signed it.

Depend on Widow's Statements

"Now we have to depend therefore, in deciding this case, almost entirely upon the testimony of the widow or statements made by the widow to other people. The testimony of Miss Engstrom, who is the widow's daughter, that she was to have $400 if her husband died first, Julius Peterson Andaa said she told him she signed for $400 and that is all she did say. Mr. Skogen swore that she said she was to have a living on the place and $400. That is the only testimony there is in regard to the widow having a living on the place. I am satisfied from all of the testimony and circumstances in this case that this support contract was not considered at the time of the original transaction. I think that came in later. Mrs. Andaa's testimony is that she refused to sign this contract and she says that I refused to sign until he told me it was not a binding writing. I signed after he told me it was only temporary and could be invalidated at any time. He did not promise me any support on the farm. That is when she signed the contract. I think the testimony is not sufficient to show what the contract really was.

"In other words, it seems from the circumstances and from Mrs. Andaa's testimony that she really did at the time when she signed the same consider the contract to be temporary only.

"It follows from this that the prayer of the petitioner so far as it relates to this alleged ante-nuptial contract, must be denied and the proceedings dismissed. The attorneys for Mrs. Andaa may prepare findings and conclusions in accordance with this decision."

CHICAGO AND ALTON
ROAD IN ATTACK ON THE EIGHT-HOUR DAY

Receiver Appears Before Labor Board to Ask Changes in Wages and Rules

REPRESENTS ANOTHER ATTACK ON LABOR SAY UNION CHIEFS

C. & A. Case Opening Wedge for Other Roads, is Claim

CHICAGO—With labor representatives protesting on the ground that railway managements seek abolition of the eight-hour day, W. G. Bied, receiver for the Chicago and Alton railway, Thursday appeared before the United States railroad labor board to urge changes in the wage and rules schedules affecting members of the train service brotherhoods.

Elimination of the rule providing time and one-half pay for all work in excess of eight hours and of the rule against double-heading freight trains represents the chief aim of the Chicago and Alton petition, it was said.

How Gompers Views It

Press dispatches from Washington Thursday night quoted Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, as supporting brotherhood chiefs in their charge that the Alton case is an entering wedge to be followed by similar cases on behalf of all other roads.

President Gompers characterized the Alton request as "an indication of the confidence railroads have in the railroad labor board." He said the Chicago and Alton is "backed by all roads," and that the move represents "another attack on labor."

Citing the "past conduct" of the labor board, Mr. Gompers predicted that the Alton petition would be granted.

"If," he added, "the railroads felt they had to make such a reactionary move then it is well they did so prior to election."

Bierd's Argument

In support of his request, Mr. Bierd who was president of the Chicago and Alton until the road went into receivership a few months ago, told labor board members that punitive overtime is an "uncontrollable expense" imposed during federal control of railroads. Speaking for double-heading of the freight trains, he said, by so doing, the Chicago and Alton could move one-third more freight than at present.

S. A. Boone, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, moved that the case be dismissed, because, he charged, the Alton had not observed the prescribed procedure in bringing it before the labor board. Ruling on this motion was deferred.

HARDING CALLS ON NATION TO OBSERVE NOVEMBER 30 AS DAY OF THANKSGIVING AND PRAYER

WASHINGTON—Declaring that the estate of the nation "presents very much to justify a nation-wide and most sincere testimony of gratitude for the bounty which has been bestowed on us," President Harding in his annual Thanksgiving proclamation, issued Friday, calls on the American people to observe Thursday, November 30, "as a day of thanksgiving, supplication and devotion."

The text of the proclamation follows:

By the President of the United States of America
A Proclamation.
In the beginning of our country the custom was established by the devout fathers of observing annually a day of thanksgiving for the bounties and protection which Divine Providence had extended through the year. It has come to be perhaps the most characteristic of our national observances and as the season approaches for its annual recurrence it is fitting formally to direct attention to this ancient institution of our people and to call upon them again to unite in its appropriate celebration.

Year of Trial and Triumph
"The year which now approaches its end has been marked, in the experience of our nation by a complexity of trials and triumphs, of difficulties and of achievements which we must regard as our inevitable portion in such an epoch as that through which all mankind is moving. As we survey the experience of the passing twelve-month we shall find that our estate presents very much to justify a nation-wide and most sincere testimony of gratitude for the bounty which has been bestowed upon us. Though we have lived in the shadow of the hard consequences of great conflict our country has been at peace and has been able to contribute toward the maintenance and perpetuation of peace in the world. We have seen the race of mankind make gratifying progress on the way to permanent peace, toward order and restored confidence in its high destiny."

Don't Submit Tamely
"We will not sit back like kittens and permit Murry to be ruled out," Coach John R. Richards declared before leaving with his team for Minnesota.

Murry continues to maintain that, although he played in the Taylorville-Carlville game that resulted in disbarment of a number of Illinois and Notre Dame players, he did not accept money for his services, and was not enrolled in any university or school at the time. He was a regular member of the Taylorville Legion team.

Upon coming to Wisconsin Murry told the athletic department that he had played on the Taylorville eleven and after a thorough investigation the university athletic council ruled him eligible.

While he will be held out of the Minnesota game Saturday, Coach Richards is hoping that the big tackle will be able to get into the contest at Illinois on the following Saturday.

ANGORA CHIEFS
ESTABLISH NEW TURKISH STATE

Assembly Passes Law Suppressing Sultanate and Law of Succession to the Throne

GOVERNMENT HEREAFTER VESTED IN TURKISH NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

Caliph to be Elected from Imperial Family But Will Have no Governing Rights

LONDON.—By the Associated Press.

—A report that the Turkish nationalist assembly at Angora has passed a law suppressing the sultanate of Turkey, and the law of succession to the throne, is contained in a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from its Constantinople correspondent who quotes dispatches from Angora.

Such action by the national assembly would mean, of course, that the sultan is deposed. In the future, according to the dispatches, the only caliph in Turkey will be periodically elected without government prerogative, all power being in the hands of the national assembly.

Action is Unanimous

CONSTANTINOPLE.—By the Associated Press.—The Angora assembly Thursday night decided unanimously that it is invested with sovereign rights and that the Turkish nationalist government is the keystone of the caliphate and Friday the newspapers carry these headlines:

"Ottoman Empire Collapsed. In its place there has arisen new national Turkish state—Sultanate abolished."

The decision of the assembly was announced by a salute of 101 guns. Immediately the soldiers and civilians began to celebrate to the blare of military bands and the bright flares of torches. The resolutions were unanimously adopted by the assembly. The first said that by virtue of organic statute and representation, sovereign rights had been vested in an indivisible and indivisible manner in the moral person of the Angora assembly, which was the only emanation of the nation. The second resolution declared the caliphate was vested in the imperial family of the Osman dynasty but that the Turkish government remains the keystone of the caliphate.

Assembly to Name Caliph

The selection of the caliphs is to be made by the grand national assembly of Turkey, which will choose that member of the imperial family, the resolution provides, who is the most instructed, the best educated, the most honest and the wisest.

After these resolutions had been unanimously adopted, Premier Reuf Bey ascended the tribune and proposed the proclamation of a national holiday on the anniversary of the reaching of this decision.

The decision of the Angora assembly was made known in the following terms:

"The palace of the sublime porte, having through corrupt ignorance for several centuries provoked numerous ills for the country, has penetrated into the domain of history. Recently the Turkish nation, the real mistress of destinies, the founder of the Ottoman empire, revolted against its foreign enemies in Anatolia and undertook a struggle against the palace of the sublime porte, which took sides with its enemies and against the nation and to that end it constituted the grand national assembly of Turkey its government and its army threw itself into the struggle against

SCHOOL CONDITIONS
IN RUSSIA SHOWING
LITTLE IMPROVEMENT

Government 85 Million Rubles in Debt to Teachers in Siberian Area Alone

MOSCOW—Russian children have started a new school year with little prospect of better conditions than they endured during the revolution. In the Siberian district the indebtedness of the government to the teachers for salaries has reached the sum of over 85,000,000 rubles, says a recent report to the district soviet. This is a mere fraction of the total amount due to instructors in salaries. In some districts teachers have not been paid for many months, and the officials have even ceased to keep account of the arrears. The lot of Russian school teachers has been a hard one. In the villages they have been somewhat better cared for than in the cities because the peasants have taxed themselves to contribute to the necessary expenses; have themselves cut wood for the school fuel, and have repaired many school houses. In the cities the schools have been left to governmental care. As a result of these conditions many teachers are turning to other means of earning a living. The plan of the communists for a free and unified school system is having hard sledding. Decree after decree has been passed forbidding the collection of fees from parents for their children's education, but local school authorities from time to time make "assessments" upon parents for the various expenses involved in maintaining the schools.

END OF THE FAMINE
PERIOD IS REFLECTED IN RUSSIAN DANCERS

Performers Appear Better Fed
this Season; Theater Ticket
Prices Soar

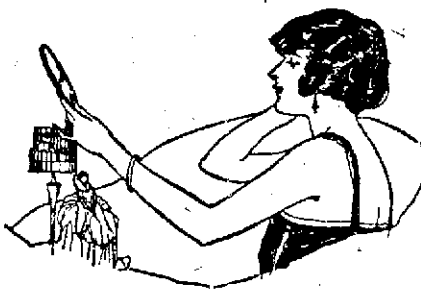

MOSCOW—The opening of Russia's theatrical season has brought out examples of freak and impressionistic staging and erotic dancing in several theaters, but nevertheless the classic Russian ballet, the old style opera, and the drama seem more popular than ever. Both the strikingly new impressionistic presentations and the time-honored ballets, however, draw large crowds, and the opening performances in the theaters featuring these respective styles were sold out long before the curtains. At the Nobles Club theater, where Goleysky presented impressionistic dancing by a dozen or more youths and girls from the Kamerny ballet, cubist and spiral structures and ordinary planks and ladders were used as scenery to represent palaces, mountains, pyramids, etc. The dancers, posturing weirdly to music by Bier, Strauss and Debussy, seemed to be cubist drawings come to life. When the curtain went up on the first performance of the ballet this year, it was evident that the dancers had enjoyed their first year of good feeding since the revolution. All were much plumper, and some even in the audience argued that another civil war might help their figures. Madame Gellser, for example, must have put on twenty pounds since last year, but her technique seemed better than ever. Along with everything else, prices for theater tickets have soared in Moscow since the close of last season. Formerly obtainable for the Russian equivalent of about 25 cents, parquet seats this year brought about two dollars at the box offices, and from five to fifteen dollars each from speculators. The audiences, however, seemed to have no trouble in securing the necessary millions of rubles, and the opening night crowds were a mixture of proletarian and bourgeois theater lovers.

This article will furnish the readers with every argument that has been made on both sides of this nation-wide question, and coming as it does just a few days before election, it has a timeliness which adds to its value.

Italy

WHILE extremely nationalistic, the fascist movement in Italy is emphasized primarily as a reaction against socialism. Communism had grown in Italy prior to the war. As in most countries, the war gave it a new impetus. The Italian Parliament is socialistic, as were most municipal governments. Perhaps the most potent element in the growth of Italian socialism was the policy of the Italian war government, which promised free land and other advantages to the soldiers, although it must have known it would be powerless to keep the agreement. Disappointed and resentful soldiers turned to socialism more or less with a sense of revenge. One recalls the seizure of Italian manufacturing plants by communistic trades unionists a number of months ago. The government now fallen, as well as its predecessor, had compromised with socialism by a series of concessions.

Somewhat like the movement against Lloyd-George, the fascist movement presents the analogy of being a young man's so-called conservative program, although in practice it is none too conservative. We do not often associate youth with conservatism. Young politicians were tired of having old men run Italy.

The display of force in the fascist movement may be adversely criticised. The victors would have nothing to do with the Parliament, although the Parliament was elected by the people. We deprecate the force of what was essentially a revolution, although the King remains. Of course the King remains because he does not matter. But the other side of it is that the socialists used force when they seized the factories. Perhaps, since both sides have used force, the outrages upon justice balance.

Rome dispatches say that the fascist movement means the end of paternalism in Italy. Perhaps for the moment the new government will help, for things are in a bad way in Italy. If a new Parliament is created in a fair election, as is promised, it will show that a majority of Italians have had enough of socialism. But if coercion is used, and that paternalism which modern conditions have forced upon progressive governments is entirely abandoned, there will be another score to pay later on. In the long run government must be sustained by a popular majority. Minority government, even though sound and just, can not long endure in this stage of civilization.

Dumb-Bell &amp; Co.

ENGINEERS used to say that it was impossible to bridge the Hudson river at New York City. They have changed their minds. The bridge will be built. The impossibility of yesterday is the accomplishment of tomorrow. So runs civilization. The new bridge will have for its "backbone" four cables, each 12 feet in diameter. These cables will support the central span, 3000 feet long, without a pier in the water below. The bridge, says one engineer, will contain 450,000 tons of steel, which is more steel than all the bridges across the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio rivers.

By 1940 at least 25,000,000 vehicles and 200,000,000 passengers a year will be passing over this bridge—if expectations materialize. It is quite a job to keep New York City connected with the United States.

Representative Ernest Ackerman of New Jersey says the bridge across the Hudson will be "the most stupendous engineering work yet undertaken, surpassing in that respect and also in final cost the Panama Canal." The actual bridge will cost at least $100,000,000. About $115,000,000 additional will be required for the terminal towers from which the huge cables will be suspended. These terminal towers will rise into the air 685 feet. Very strong towers required, to support 400,000 tons, the weight of the steel in the suspended section. More millions required, for the approaches. It makes you wonder, is there any limit to the engineering powers of man, second only to the ant (in proportion to size) as a builder?

This enormous expenditure of money, human labor and materials is necessary because people persist in flocking to join the swarm in New York City, each year on a larger scale. It is just a beginning of what will be required in the future. All this, the penalty of flocking to an island. In the long run, it might be cheaper to abandon New York City proper and move the swarms to the mainland of the United States. It starts you wondering if, after all, many of our "vast engineering feats" are not rather futile. The high cost of swarming together, like all other costs, has a prohibitive limit.

Great

LOYD GEORGE, in a vote-getting speech, says the money his country owes us is nothing to the debt we owe England because of the benefits we have derived from great Englishmen—John Wesley, Shakespeare, the Pilgrim Fathers, etc. Start balancing the books this way and there's no end to it. How much does England owe us for the benefits she gets from discoveries of great Americans such as Edison and the inventors of airplane, street car, auto, automatic machine, sewing machine, etc.? More than all the money in the world.

Rescue

DR. EINAR KEYS of Sweden discovers how to remove blood clots from an artery, by operation. Wild cheers, when he announces this in Boston at the clinical congress of American College of Surgeons. It is news of extreme importance, for it involves the most valuable thing in the world—human life. Dr. Key's discovery will save thousands of people a year from becoming cripples. Heretofore a blood clot usually meant gangrene and amputation of arm or leg.

Future

A GLIMPSE of what may be common 50 years from now comes from Honolulu, where Governor Farrington takes a trip as passenger in an airplane. Above Pearl Harbor, the plane catches fire. The pilot and his mechanic make Farrington crawl out on a wing while they battle the flames. Not a comfortable place to be, the plane traveling all this time like an express train, gradually descending. Striking the water, all swim and are picked up. This is a modern version of the old-time thriller story of the boy who stood on the burning deck.

Accident

FOURTEEN million pounds of dynamite and powder were exploded last year in rock quarries worked by cement companies. And not a single serious injury resulted to any of the men who handled the explosives. Reason: Recognizing their danger, they were cautious. Danger doesn't matter much. What counts is carefulness. Nine-tenths of accidents are due to carelessness, not hazard.

Westward

EXPORTS from our Pacific coast ports have increased 132 per cent in the last eight years. The gain at Atlantic coast ports was only 45 per cent. The Panama Canal has a lot to do with this, cutting into transcontinental railroad hauls. More important, our foreign trade is gradually swinging westward. Our export future is in the orient, not Europe.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Six homes in the city are quarantined on account of smallpox and there are a number of cases of chicken pox. Citizens have been warned to report all suspicious cases to physicians so an epidemic will not break out.

Daniel W. Lawler, St. Paul, once mayor of that city, and now a candidate for congress in Minnesota, has been secured by the Elks to be the chief speaker at their annual memorial services to be held in the Congregational church December 1.

Mrs. Hannah P. Clark died of old age at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John P. Evans at West La Crosse this morning. Mrs. Clark was 79 years old and was born in Ohio.

Miss Anna Brunner and Roscoe Hohman, both of Onalaska, were married at the office of Judge Kiebert yesterday afternoon, the judge performing the ceremony.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

William Blanchard, an engineer on the Burlington, and Miss Gertrude Powell were married by Rev. Henry Faville last evening at the home of Mr. F. J. Killian on South Third street.

Sather and Webenstad, two well known La Crosse men, will open a new and commodious meat market on the corner of Fifth and Market streets November 5th.

A handsome pavilion of granite, stone and steel, pretty in design and to be erected at the top of a little knoll, will grace the northern end of Pettibone park next season. The plans for the structure are now being drawn by Architects Schick and Roth. It is to be fifty feet in diameter. Its lines will be of a classical nature and the roof of an oriental character.

Dr. Edward Evans, a member of the board of education, has a plan which may be adopted by the board for the free examination of all school children. The plan provides that wherever there is a suspicion of disease the children exposed will be examined and the proper action taken. The cost of the examination will be defrayed by the general school fund.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Harry Gooch who has been employed at the office of the La Crosse Packing Co., and has been captain of the Fruit House nine, leaves today to take a position as bookkeeper in the First National bank of Sioux City, Iowa.

George Oeltjender of North La Crosse, has begun the manufacture of a new brand of cigars which he calls the Washington Hose Co. in honor of the boys at Station No. 2. The trade mark is "first water."

Miss Eldora Safford and Mr. George A. Sexton were married yesterday morning at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. H. Safford, 1324 State street. Rev. W. S. Sexton officiated. Mr. Sexton is a traveling man but makes his headquarters in La Crosse, so the couple will live here.

The Ram of Darby

By MARTHA McCULLOCH WILLIAMS

There was liaison of sorts between Bobby Bristow and the eminent G. Washington in that both sang, equally out of key, the so famous chant of the Darby Ram. Bobby's performance approached synecdoche through the fact that Hoplight, his single-footer, was going great guns being headed homeward. Still you could catch without straining ears: "That ram was fat before, sir; that ram was fat behind; That ram was ten miles round, sir, the biggest you could find. He had four feet to walk, sir; he had four feet to stand; And every foot that ram had, covered an acre of land."

"Don't believe a word of it, Bobby. But if it's true your ram must have been the Only Original Wool Trust. Marietta called high and clear from an ambush of blackberry thickets at the roadside. Instantly Bobby stopped Hoplight dead—so sharply the creature came upon haunches.

"What you doin' out here in this brin' sun?" he demanded. "Ain't you freckled enough—not even a turnip can come up to you."

"That any of your business?" Marietta demanded briskly. She was still invisible. Bobby sprang down, plunged into the briars, and brought up standing against a barbed-wire fence—with his sweetheart laughing merrily at him on its farther side.

"It's a long, long way to Tipperary—otherwise the draw-bars," that person flung at him. "Better ride on home, little boy, mammy'll be onsey if you're late. But don't you tell her what I'm doin'—let me surprise her with six gallons of blackberry jam, not to name canned ones when we set up housekeeping."

"Oh indeed? When does that happen?" from Bobby, trying to speak in exactly her key. For answer came a laughing, "If you know in time to get the license—Squire Keep lives so handy no need of bespoken him."

"Tell me now—won't budge a step till you do," from Bobby. "Then you'll go in the class with Lot's wife, and that mythology lady that turned to a rock," from Marietta. "Mammy'll build a house over you—no—a pedestal to set you on. And if she has her way, she'll sacrifice me on the steps to your memory."

"What makes you two hate each other so pizen bad?" Bobby asked dolefully.

Peeping out through a leafy chink Marietta returned: "Heap of things—infant baptism—she says it's my being sprinkled makes me so mean—and her back hair—hurts me to look at it—and my poverty—hardly more than what I stand up in—and Jincy Peters with those thousand dollars to be had for picking up. But mostly because of you. She wants to pick your wife as she has picked everything else for you—clothes, schools, books, friends. She'd like you to have a white rabbit, made of cotton flannel, with pink-cotton ears, that she could set up on the dresser for you to look at and play with now and then, while she ran things as usual."

"How about you?" Bobby demanded, fling his lip.

Marietta's mouth hardened. "I'm right down afraid to think of marryin' you," she said, "for honestly, I can't tell whether I most want to do it to spite her—or because—"

"Well, because what?" from the panting Bobby.

"Because," Marietta went on, "I'm fool enough to care such a lot about you."

"Glorious! First time I ever heard that!" Bobby began, making to scale the fence, heedless of barbs. Hoplight made a sudden diversion. With a sharp, impatient neigh, he struck into a gully that quickly became a dead run. Marietta watched him disappear, breathing hard. "Run! Quick! Think of your mother!" she implored.

Bobby was already thinking—sight of his horse, riderless, might kill his mother. Her heart was unsteady, for all her appearance of baleness. Hoplight would follow the road, a mile around. If he himself were inside the pasture fence he could go home by running less than half the distance. Desperately he tried to plunge through under, at last over—poised a few top, he slipped—fell sprawling back into the roadway, with a wretched ankle that would not bear his weight. He called to Marietta, she did not answer. Dragging himself painfully upright he peered over the hedge-row—to see her vanishing across the grass, headed straight, as the crow flies, for his home.

When opposing cyclones meet there ensues, it is said, dead calm. Something of that sort happened to Mue. Bristow when, just as Hoplight dashed through the open lawn gate, Marietta Hill sprang upon the end of the piazza panting weakly. "Don't you be scared, Bobby's not hurt. Hoplight ran away while we were talking."

"Why didn't he come himself?" Marietta demanded, her face gray.

"He was on the wrong side of the fence—the roadside," Marietta explained. "I came because I knew he was so scared for you. No, he didn't ask it, now I'll go away."

"You will not! Show me where my son is!" Mrs. Bristow flared, her eyes full of terror—so full they woke up in Marietta, the remorseless.

"Let me take you in your car," she said quietly. "He is just down the big road; I know he wouldn't let you walk there in this sun."

Mue Bristow sank down biting her lips. In a wink Marietta had found the car, had her safe in it and was whizzing like mad down the road.

The girl's face was set, yet a whim of smile played over it, she was thinking at the back of her head what a chance for melodrama. By ditching the car she could precipitate a catastrophe that would clear her path Bobbyward of every obstacle. Repressing inward laughter, she glanced at her passenger; what she saw woke in her genuine compassion. The mother love strong, bitter, possessive, that she had heretofore so resented, made this woman's face a mask of agony. Instantly Marietta began singing "The Ram of Darby," sure that Bobby would understand and answer her chant.

He did. At first so faintly the mo-

for all that drowned it, but swelling clearer, nearer, with each revolution of the swift wheels. It broke the tension, eased the intolerable ache; Mue Bristow leaned forward tears welling plentifully through the fingers that covered her face. She murmured chokingly, "Lord, dear Lord, you have spared him. My boy! All I have lived for! How can I thank Thee? Serve Thee! Give me a sign!"

As the car halted neatly alongside Bobby, he stared at it with unbelieving eyes. He had managed somehow to find a snuff of turf, a handful of shade, and sat there waiting the moving of the water. His mother tried to run to him, but fell back in her seat, too shaken for motion. "Sit still!" Marietta said, imperatively, springing out herself and helping Bobby to his feet. Leaning upon her shoulder, he made the car. She half lifted him in it? morning toward the driver's seat; but his mother stared him with a look. "I know Marietta will take us home," she said.

Bobby looked a question. Marietta answered it with her usual sauciness. "Yes, if you agree to go around through the pastures and take my blackberries home for me. Can't waste them after picking them this hot day."

"Surely not," said madam, a wan smile with the words. "But remember—you have two homes now—which needs them most?"

"Ours!" said Bobby promptly—and none gainsaid him.

Meatless Diet in a Hospital

The experiment of a meatless diet is being tried in the Beth Israel Hospital of New York by Superintendent J. Louis Frank. Until recently it was contended by some that meat was the source of vitamins, but this has been recently disproved by Dr. E. V. McCollum, professor of chemistry and hygiene of the Johns Hopkins University. From a medical standpoint it is now asserted that there is nothing inherent in meat that cannot be supplied by fish, eggs and milk products.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

THE INDOOR SPORT
BY BERTON BRALEY
My golf is a joke and my tennis is a curse
And few people swim quite badly as I;
But though to such sports I am far from adverse,
I don't really shine until summer's gone by.
Then me for the place where the torrid sun
And also where tennis is excitingly fall;
At sports such as these I'm decidedly sick.
I swing a mean cue and I roll a mean ball!
I'm versatile, too, in the sports that I know.
My snooker game is exceeded by few.
At checkers I'm not at all stupid or slow.
I'll say that I chink a good domino, too.
I like to get busy at jack-pot or stud,
With hard-boiled old stagers, out-ripped and gruff.
Who hold the cards close and who go out for blood.
Who lose a steep raise and who throw a smooth bluff.
The summer's all right, and I fall for its charm.
But autumn and winter are more to my taste.
When one can loaf 'round in a room that is warm.
And play at a game without sweating or haste.
I like the blue smoke that is thick as a cloud.
I like the male laughter that booms through the air.
My record outdoors doesn't do me so proud.
But indoors—oh boy, I'm a wiz and a ho!

Birds That Do Not Fly

During the war there were men connected with the air service who did not fly and a wild animosity developed between the flyers and the non-flyers. It was a naturalist among flyers who dubbed the ground officers as "Kee Wees." The name spread, yet few knew the reason for the title. It was while looking up the word "aptitude" in the dictionary that an air service officer stumbled on the right dose: "Apteryx—a bird native of New Zealand without wings or tail. Cannot fly; called by natives 'Kee-wee.'"

REPUBLIC OF POLAND SOON TO ESTABLISH NATIONAL CURRENCY

Reform in Financial Structure is Announced by Finance Minister

WARSAW, Poland.—A complete reform in the existing finances of Poland has been announced by Finance Minister Jastrzebski.

His program includes a monetary readjustment to be effected in from three to five years. Also he would increase and simplify taxation. The time has arrived, M. Jastrzebski declares, for the establishment of a Polish national currency. The unit is to be the zloty. The treasury has at its disposal 100,000,000 gold francs for this purpose, and also 150,000,000 gold francs for industrial aid.

The minister's tax program involves a general increase in taxes, particularly land taxes, which he proposes to increase 20 times.

Despite the many difficulties which the nation has faced, industry has been successfully revived and is now buoyant. Although the printing of money resulted in depreciation, it nevertheless made possible the award of credits to manufacturers and agriculturalists, and it permitted state aid in the matter of tariffs and rates for the benefit of the poorer classes.

It now remains necessary only to establish gradually a gold secured currency, and this the state now is in a position to do.

WET FACTION BACKS 324 CANDIDATES FOR PLACES IN CONGRESS

Anti-Saloon League Denies Gains Claimed by Association Against Prohibition

BERT JOLIVETTE AMONG THE CANDIDATES IN LIST OF WETS

Drys Claim Candidates Spurned
Endorsement of Wets

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In announcing Thursday night that it is actively but secretly supporting seventy-five candidates for congress, in addition to 249 candidates who publicly have been recommended as "wine and beer" nominees, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment drew fire from the Anti-Saloon league, which charges that some of the association's candidates have repudiated its endorsement.

Ever since the first list of "wet"
candidates was made public by G. C.
Hinckley, secretary of the Anti-Prohibition organization, the Anti-Saloon league has been endeavoring to shoot the list full of holes. Although reputations have been reported, the association has stuck to its original list and Thursday republished it.

In addition to the candidates whose names are linked with the "wine and beer" platform, Secretary Hinckley says that seventy-five others are being supported by his organization "to the utmost," but that it is unwise to disclose their names "because of local conditions."

Wheeler Answers Claim
Mr. Hinckley's announcement brought an answering blast from Wayne B. Wheeler, chief spokesman for the Anti-Saloon league.

"The public endorsement of 249
congressmen and senators by the National Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, coupled with their hostile program to defeat dry congressmen and their failure to file any report of expenses incurred in the congressional campaign under the federal law, should destroy the confidence of the people in the good faith and inclination to obedience to law of this wet organization," Wheeler said.
"I can see readily why they did not give out the remainder of the list whom they endorse. As soon as the first list was announced, congressmen and senators began to repudiate this notification endorsement. Senators from Nebraska and Utah, congressmen from Mississippi, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, Oklahoma and many other states not only refused to accept the wet label, but announced that they were against any weakening of the national prohibition act as long as the eighteenth amendment is in the constitution."

"No candidate for congress can face an intelligent constituency and justly voting to repeal or destroy the necessary legislation to enforce the eighteenth amendment while it remains a part of the constitution."

The supplemental list of indorsements issued by the wets was as follows:
California—George Bauer, socialist,
Eleventh district.
Michigan—R. H. Rayburn, democrat, Eleventh district.
New Jersey—T. A. Shields, democrat, Sixth district; W. A. Cadmus, democrat, Seventh district; W. A.
O'Brien, republican, Twelfth district.
Virginia—Claude A. Swanson, democrat, senate.
Wisconsin—E. T. Melms, socialist, Fourth district; V. L. Berger, socialist, Fifth district; W. E. Cavanaugh, democrat, Sixth district; B. A. Joli-vette, democrat, Seventh district; H.
A. Martha, socialist, Eighth district;
Henry Graas, independent, Ninth district.

"It will be observed that the list represents all shades of political belief, including republicans, democrats, socialists and independents," said Mr.
Hinckley. "As such it certifies the non-partisan character of our activities."

249 Openly Indorsed
"The list supplements two previously made public by our organization, bringing the number of liberal candidates which it has openly indorsed to 249. The entire number will have our support, irrespective of their party affiliations. Our association is nowhere touching the campaign from a party standpoint. All of the candidates indorsed, however, have given indications satisfactory to the organization of their political convictions, although this does not necessarily mean that they have indorsed our position in detail."

"Through its present membership of more than 350,000 prominent and law abiding citizens in all parts of the country, our association is bending every effort to bring about the repeal of the drastic prohibition laws now in force, and thus to end a situation far worse than the one it has created."

DEMAND FOR CARS
THRICE THE SUPPLY

Car Shortage Situation in Wisconsin Continues Stringent Says Commission

MADISON, Wis.—The car shortage
situation continues stringent. A data compiled at the state railroad commission indicates that the demand is almost three times as great as the supply. Some of the roads are especially hard hit and the demand on these lines is greater than even this. One company operating in state was able to supply only 15 percent of the demand early in the week. The following report was received by the state railroad commission in the far service division
of the American Railroad Association.

"For week ending October twenty-first American railroads loaded over
million cars of freight exact figures being million three thousand seven fifty nine which is only one and five tenths percent under peak loading for any one week in history American railroads. Increase loading grain and

teen twentyone and fourteen thou-

hundred twenty six cars over nine-

two hundred six over nineteen twenty.

tional record when consideration given fact railroads have weathered shop strike and have been moving tion for whatever use you desire make

Dream Lore in Schools
Much valuable information as to the mental make-up of a child could be obtained from a study of his dreams, Dr. C. W. Kimmins, an English savant, recently declared during a discussion on psycho-analysis and education at a recent meeting of the British association at Hull. It would be interesting, he suggested, to hear

DEMAND FOR CARS THRICE THE SUPPLY REPORTS RATE BODY

Car Shortage Situation in Wis-

Says Commission

MADISON, Wis.—The car shortage
situation continues stringent. A data
compiled at the state railroad commission indicates that the demand
is almost three times as great as the supply. Some of the roads are especially hard hit and the demand on these lines is greater than even this. One company operating in state was able to supply only 15 percent of the demand early in the week. The following report was received by the state railroad commission in the far service division
of the American Railroad Association.

"For week ending October twenty-
first American railroads loaded over
million cars of freight exact figures
being million three thousand seven
fifty nine which is only one and five
tenths percent under peak loading for
any one week in history American railroads. Increase loading grain and

teen twentyone and fourteen thousand two hundred over nineteen twenty. Increase loading live stock six hundred twenty six cars over nine-

SWEDISH FISHERMEN GIVEN PRIZES FOR EXTRA GOOD HAULS

Government Takes Steps for Stimulation of Deep Sea
Fishing Industry

GOTHENBURG, Sweden.—Sweden is making a determined effort to stimulate the deep sea fishing industry of the west coast, and at the same time to increase the national consumption of fish throughout the country. The state and local authorities are helping and encouraging fishermen in the purchasing of new boats and fishing tackle, and they are constructing up-to-date fishing ports. The government fisheries board is extending its research work on the habits of the fish and the whereabouts of the largest schools. A campaign to stimulate the public demand for fish as a more important part of the daily fare has been inaugurated, and certain newspapers are calling attention to the exploitation of fishermen by the middlemen. The latter are taking large profits the majority of which should go into the pockets of the fishermen or be shared by the public in lower prices.

An interesting feature of this drive is the revival by the government of a custom nearly one hundred years old, of granting prizes to the mackerel fishermen of the west coast for the best mackerel caught, sorted and packed for export.

Swedish fishermen take pride in their profession and they have long been grumbling over the fact that their mackerel has been sold and shipped to America through middlemen in other countries. They have received reports that mackerel of inferior grades has been mixed in with these shipments.

In order to eliminate this cause of complaint, and to assure better quality and direct shipment with the virtual elimination of middlemen's profits, a cooperative association has been formed and backed by the governor of the Gothenburg province, Oscar von Sydow; the Swedish Consul-General in New York, Olof H. Lamm, and others. The system of government inspection has been perfected, inspectors being detailed to the several ports where mackerel is packed for the American market. These men will see to it that mackerel of the highest grade only goes to the United States.

THE SURGEON AT DINNER

The surgeon's method of feeding is peculiar. Underneath the snout and near the point of it are four barbs of "teeth," about two and a half inches long, and placed about three-quarters of an inch apart across the snout. It swims with the snout close to the bottom, which allows the barbs to trail along on the sand or mud.

Whenever the barbs touch the protruding siphons of the soft-shelled clam or the razor clam the siphons of the clams contract and by doing so notify the surgeon of their presence. It halts, and with its telescopic mouth pumps the sand or mud away from the clam, passes it out of the all openings, and finally draws the clam from its resting place into its jaws, and there crushes it. The large portions of the shell are discarded through the side openings; but if the clams are small it swallows nearly all of it. Another way the surgeon has of feeding is to plough a furrow through the sand or mud with its long pointed snout, then to turn round and go back through the furrow and pick up whatever small mollusks and crustaceans it may have exposed. It also picks up with its protruding mouth great quantities of sand and mud, sits there through its gills and thereby finds many small organisms upon which it feeds.

His Bones Returned
At the close of the recent Dante celebrations at Ravenna, fragments of the bones of the poet, stolen in 1865 but later recovered, were reunited to the skeleton.

BERLIN.—Sending 2,888 words an hour on a Siemens printer, Erna Bannasch, of Breslau, won the speed championship of an international telegraphic competition held here recently. The second prize also went to a German woman.

Of seventy-two prizes offered, German contestants captured more than a third. The chief awards fell to competitors of the various nationalities as follows: To Indians for the Morse apparatus; to Germans for the Hughes, the Siemens, and for radio; to Spanish for the Bandor, and to Danish for the Wheatstone. Oskar Schindler, of Vienna, won the master telegraphist trophy for being a prize winner on three different types of apparatus. The award consisted of a large silver urn offered by the president of Germany.

Oats for women who are rushed

Your grocer now has Instant Quaker Oats, the quickest cooking oats in the world. It cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes.

The same extra quality as in regular Quaker Oats. Both are flaked from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, flaky oats. Both have that matchless flavor which makes Quaker Oats supreme.

But in Instant Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And the small thin flakes cook quickly.

Get the style you want. The Instant Quaker is marked "Instant" on the label.

ST. AUGUSTINE TO RE-ENACT LANDING OF PONCE DE LEON

Time to be Turned Backward for Several Centuries in Florida Town Next April

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla.—Time will turn backward several centuries next April 3 when Juan Ponce, Knight of Leon, at the head of a small band of Spanish cavaliers and sailing in three caravels, will land on the beach at St. Augustine and be greeted by thousands of Indians headed by the great Chief Inabohone.

This will mark the beginning of a three-day historical pageant, preparations for which already have been started by an executive committee. This pageant in the United States' oldest city will be one of the most spectacular ever staged in America, sponsors claim.

April 4 will be Ponce De Leon day and will be featured by the landing of the Spanish knight in his search for the fountain of youth and later a sham battle will take place between his men and the Indians. Old Fort Marion and other landmarks about St. Augustine will form a background for this celebration.

The founding of St. Augustine, September 8, 1565 by Don Pedro Menendez de Aviles will be observed on April 5 which will be Menendez day.

St. Augustine will be under four flags—Spanish, French, British and American—on April 6. The transfers of flags will be observed by elaborate ceremonies.

Costumes of French, Spanish and British soldiers of sixteenth century have been ordered and Florida state troops will take part. Other events to be pictured will be as correct historically as possible.

NEWS IN THE SMOKE CLOUD

The facility that savages have for passing along the news of the day from one tribe to another has long been a matter of perplexity to the white travelers through the savage countries. An African traveler, was informed by one of his native followers, one morning, that his father had died and that he must return to his tribe. The explorer told the native that it was a lie and only an excuse to leave the camp but it was found afterwards to be the truth. Such instances have been frequently noted by travelers in those countries and it is known that these people have many ways of conveying information to a great distance with rapidity. One way is by means of smoke. Every tribe has one man who is adept in the art of making smoke to conform to certain characteristics which are understood by those for whom it is intended. This man selects his stock of wood with great care, having in view, not only the character of the wood but the degree of moisture in order to get different results. The character of the smoke cloud conveys the message and it is passed from one tribe to another.

The Well-Behaved Gas Jet

burn evenly and if cooking utensils keep clean where the heat from the burner tips strike them.

KIDNAPPED GIRL MUCH IMPROVED DOCTORS REPORT

Rosalie Shanty to be Taken to Hospital at Muskegon; Abductor Given Long Term

MUSKEGON, Mich. — Rosalie Shanty, the 11-year-old swimming star, who was kidnapped Sunday and abandoned in the Jack pine wilderness of Manistee county, probably will be brought back to Muskegon late Friday or Saturday it was said at the child's home here today. Rosalie's condition has improved to such an extent that physicians believed she could be brought to the hospital here.

The girl was still in a high nervous state however, and no effort was made to calm her the story of her two days wandering through the forests.

The abductor of the girl, R. E. Wilson, entered Marquette prison Friday where he was sentenced to serve from 35 to 40 years.

STRAFING DESTRUCTIVE PESTS

It would seem that man, with all his ingenuity in handling most problems which confront him, is powerless in the face of the horde of insects about him. The statement has been made that if weeds and noxious insects could be kept in subjection, the cost of bread and other necessities of life would be cut down one-third. Weeds are the noxious plants that should go into useful plants and so rank is their growth that they smother delicate seedlings by depriving them of the sunlight and dew. The useful growths that do manage to overcome the weeds, must go through an ordeal of destructive insects. Many of these are capable of turning promising acres into barren wastes. Experiments have been recently conducted in England with a machine which is designed to keep down the growth of weeds and the army of insects. It is a large and powerful thing with a front roller which crushes down all vegetation. This is followed by a blast of flame which destroys the weeds and eggs which happen to be on the surface and then knives which turn out the grubs below the surface.

Tribute to Men of Woods

I like very much the society of woodmen. I don't know any men who are so complete masters of their business and of the secluded but delicious world in which they live. They are healthy, their language is picturesque; they live in the air and Nature whispers to them many of her secrets. A forest is like the ocean, monotonous only to the ignorant. Disraeli.

A Good Reason

Hotel Proprietor (disturbed at 2 a. m.)—"What's up?"

Guest—"I want another room."

Proprietor—"Go to bed—you'll be all right in the morning."

Guest—"I tell you I want another room."

Proprietor—"What's the matter with your room?"

Guest—"Well, it's on fire, for a start."

STOCK MARKET CLOSE

Announcement of an advance in supportable prices and heavy absorption of United Steel which was pushed up 2 points furnished the impetus for another advance in the later dealings when activity was at its height. The close was strong, sales 1,000,000 shares.

BENTLEY REPORTS ELECTION EXPENSES OF FOUR HUNDRED

Campaign Expenditures Held to Low Level, Early Reports Show

MADISON, Wis.—Campaign expenses in the Wisconsin general election were held to a low point by candidates, first reports filed Friday with Elmer S. Hall, secretary of state, show. Office seekers have until Saturday night to file an account of their campaign expenditures with the secretary of state.

Mayor A. A. Bentley of La Crosse, independent Democratic candidate for governor, spent $463 during the general election campaign, largely for travel. F. R. Zimmerman, Republican nominee for secretary of state, spent $119 in the general election campaign, his statement shows. The prohibition gubernatorial candidate M. L. Welles, filed a statement showing that he spent nothing to further his candidacy.

H. H. Pearce, Republican nominee for congress in the eleventh district, says that he spent $60 during his general election campaign.

CLASSY MUSICAL PLAY SCORES BIG AT THE MAJESTIC

One of the classiest little musical comedy companies seen here this season is appearing at the Majestic theater Thursday night. Billie Maine's comedians presented a farce, "Fifty-Fifty," with music in a style which carried the house by storm. A band, some chorus, catchy music and happy comedy featured this production, with dancing and other specialties of a high order. The dancing partners, Mabel Traylor, violinist, and the Harmony Hounds quartet were noteworthy features. This fine number will be on the boards at the Majestic until Sunday.

FALSE ALARM

Down along the Miami river in Florida the natives are not usually easily scared, but one night the conversation turned to spirit manifestations and one man spoke up:

"Don't believe in them," he stated, "but I did once. One night I wakes up in my cabin and hears something 'slooshin' across the floor. Spooks, I thinks. It was so creepy-like. Seared? Well, I reckon. But I got the nerve to crawl out of bed and to light a match and then I see certain plumb ashamed of myself and I ain't never believed in spirits since."

MOVIES TO HERALD ADVANTAGE OF BUYING WINTER POTATOES NOW

MADISON, Wis.—Moving picture houses throughout Wisconsin will show consumers the advantages they will realize by purchasing their potatoes for winter consumption during the week November 6 to 11. Co-operating with the state department of markets the movies have agreed to help Wisconsin farmers dispose of their large stock of spuds.

The marketing department Friday urged retailers to aid in putting into effect their plan for potato week. All agencies will be needed to impress the public with the advantages to be gained by purchases of their potato supplies at this time, the department says.

"California Fig Syrup"

Hurry Mother! A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will thoroughly clean the little bowels and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Even a cross, feverish, constipated child loves its "fruitly" taste, and mothers can rest easy because it never fails to work all the sour bile and poisons right out of the stomach and bowels without griping or upsetting the child. Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." # SUPPORT OF ARMIES HEAVY BURDEN UPON EUROPEAN NATIONS

Immense Number of Soldiers
Under Training in South and East of Europe

ROME.—The armies of the vanquished in the world war have been reduced to 100,000 men for Germany, and 30,000 each for Austria-Hungary and Bulgaria, according to the newspaper, La Epoca, which has collected statistics on the military strength of various countries in Europe from official sources.

The paper calls attention to the immense number of soldiers who are being trained to arms in southern and eastern Europe. In the Balkans, where the spark that brought about the conflagration was ignited, the record is particularly high, it declares. Greece, with a population of 6,500,000 has an army of 2,000,000 men, Jugoslavia, bellicose by nature and tradition and surrounded by neighbors who do not love her, has an army of 80,000 men, a heavy burden on her scanty finances. Rumania and Czechoslovakia, haunted by the fear of bolshevism and surrounded by enemies and uncertain friends, keep up each an army of 200,000 men; while Poland, new to liberty and independence and hating bitterly her former masters, Germany, Russia and Austria, pauperized herself to keep on a war footing 300,000 soldiers.

These nations have to face the menace of bolshevism. Russia, the exact opposite of Germany, continues, with her 1,600,000 German trained fighters. France comes next to Russia with an army of almost 200,000 men, while England and Italy, whose home populations are

GOOD WHISTLER STORY

"One of Whistler's stories was of Burne-Jones and himself going to a country fair and wandering into a sideshow to see a tattooed lady—and he was afraid to say how many subjects were tattooed on her—on one knee the American eagle, on the other, the Union Jack, and on her back, Leonardo's Last Supper. And she really was amazing, and they enjoyed it hugely. Some four or five years afterward, in London, Burne-Jones burst in upon Whistler, and told him the same tattooed lady was at the Aquarium, and they must go and see her again. And they went and she had grown very stout in the meanwhile and when they looked at the Last Supper, all the apostles were a broad grin."—From "The Whistler's Journal" by E. R. and J. Pennell.

OIL LIGHT BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

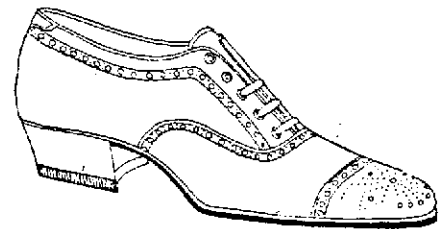

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, C. L. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. # What To Look For In Buying Your ELECTRIC WASHER

The most important thing to consider in buying a washer is not, how much does it cost, but HOW DOES IT WASH. What, in other words, is the WASHING PRINCIPLE? After forty years laundry experts have failed to find a quicker, more efficient or more economical washing method than the Thor reversing cylinder principle. All the other desirable features of Thor Washers are subordinate to this first advantage. Make sure at the start, therefore, that the machine YOU choose is a Thor—for the Thor principle is used by all "dry cleaners" in cleansing the most delicate fabrics—most of which are far too FINE to put in water. Yet, who ever heard of clothing being damaged by the "dry cleaning" method?

IT MUST BE DURABLE

The statement that the Thor is the most durable washing machine ever built for home use is the ABSOLUTE truth. The design, workmanship and material used in the machine insure a lifetime of wholly satisfactory service.

PLUS OUR GUARANTEE

These advantages give you everything that could possibly be desired in an electric washer. But—we give you one more—our GUARANTEE that the machine is ALL that we claim it is. Examine the Thor carefully, for you cannot afford to put your money into anything else, when you can get such high efficiency and LIFELONG wear only in the THOR.

YOUR NEIGHBOR HAS A "THOR"

The THOR WASHER or IRONER is an investment that will pay handsome dividends. We will demonstrate a THOR in your home. The Factory Demonstrator is at our store this week only.

WHAT THE CHANGE IN THE BRITISH CABINET MAY DO

By FRANK SIMONDS.
WASHINGTON.—The first plank in the platform of the new Tory ministry in Britain is obviously an endorsement of the Anglo-French Entente. Among all of the indictments of Lloyd George none has been more steadily pressed both in England and out of it than that of having almost if not completely destroyed the partnership between the two great powers which united to check Germany in 1914.

For the world, however, the question must remain whether the alliance can be restored or not. It is plain that Bonar Law will be no more able than Lloyd George to share in or give his approval to French military operations against Germany. He is bound moreover to advocate sweeping reductions in reparations. Both these things are essential to the restoration of British prosperity and the abolition of unemployment.

On the other hand there are two possible compensations which he can offer France for his policy. The one is the British guarantee against any future German attack, the second is the cancellation of French debts to Britain in return for French agreement to drastic cuts in German reparations.

Nothing contributed so much to weaken the Anglo-French Entente as the fashion in which Lloyd George seized upon the American refusal to ratify the Tripartite treaty of insurance to get Britain out of a similar pledge. It was his legal right to do this since the treaty specifically required three ratifications to make it binding, but in exercising a legal right he put a very severe strain upon Anglo-French relations.

The Balfour note which proclaimed that Britain would not come to the aid of France unless she attacked the latter, while the British insisted upon payment of the debt owed Germany, did something far worse. It also stated that Belgium and the United States, now, although out of office, Germany has obviously challenged his successor to reverse this policy. But while he relies upon popular misapprehension and prejudice to embarrass his successor, but it is doubtful if Bonar Law will permit himself to be intimidated.

The truth is that not in a generation has the British position in Europe been as uncomfortable as at the present moment. Germany's German policy has cost him the support of Poland and the Little Entente, that in Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia. His debt policy has driven both Belgium and Italy into the French camp. Finally his near eastern policy has not only earned the hostility of the Turk but it has certainly insured Greek resentment for Greece will naturally feel herself betrayed. Moreover the pro-Greek policy has added to Italian resentment.

We are, too, approaching a new crisis in reparations with the coming of the new year. It is not impossible that we are also near to a complete German collapse in the near Law must now face the consequences.

But laying aside political cries and campaign appeals, the cold fact is that the debts which Germany owes her creditors can and will never be paid save in comparatively insignificant amounts. And since Germany will not pay and cannot now be made to pay, it is utterly idle for Britain to attempt to collect from Italy, France or Belgium, much as it is useless for her to maintain her claim against Germany.

As a business proposition neither the United States nor Britain is going to get one red penny out of Germany for the war loans. The sooner this fact is appreciated the quicker we shall get down to rock bottom. If Britain cancels what debts are owed her both by Germany and by her recent allies she will not resign a dollar of good money, nor would the United States for that matter. Such cancellation by Britain would permit immediate scaling down of German reparations. This, too, would not mean the surrender of any valuable thing.

Lloyd George in office was a politician first and all the time. Mr. Bonar Law has always been a business man, even in politics. The politicians in all countries have so befuddled the popular mind and so muddled the whole financial side of the war settlement that the one hope now is to get the matter out of their hands and have a general writing off of bad debts. As far as France is concerned, even Poincare has read the signs of the time, he could not survive the rejection of any reasonable proposal made by Bonar Law and accompanied by a guarantee against a new German attack.

Thus it may easily be that the change in the British Ministry may not alone save the Anglo-French Entente but contribute to an amelioration if not a speedy solution of the reparations-debt tangle. (Copyright, 1922, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate).

The Anglo-French Entente was a Tory creation. It was the Tory intervention which actually decided Britain's course in the critical day of the first week in August, 1914.

Bonar Law's two sons fell on French soil during the war and this fact alone is certain to give him standing in any French discussions. To give France and Belgium, a British promise, specific and unqualified, that if the events of 1914 are repeated the action of Britain will be duplicated would change the whole face of Anglo-French relations instantly.

As for the question of the French debt to Britain, and of course the Italian and the Belgian stand on the same footing, the situation is clear. All three of these countries are agreed in opposing the reduction of German reparations, while Britain, which would profit most by such reduction, holds her recent allies to their obligations. Lloyd George's course has united these nations and Mr. Bonar

OVER THE TELEPHONE

The woman was calling a rather important business man on a morning when the telephone service seemed to be practically temperamental. She had her number and was waiting to be connected with the business man when a masculine voice cheerily called out, "Hello." "Is Mr. James in?" asked the woman. "When did he come in?" replied the masculine voice.

At that, the woman sensed something wrong and inquired, "What number is this?" "This is the morgue," replied the voice. The woman gave up and decided to write a letter instead. —Chicago Journal.

Buildings on a Raft of Cement

Mexico City is built on the mud bed of what in the time of Cortez was a shallow lake surrounding a small island. Before the geological conditions were understood, buildings were erected upon ordinary foundations, and some of them have slowly sunk into the mud. The ground floor windows of the beautiful School of Mines are completely submerged. The usual plan now is to build on a large raft of steel and cement.

CANADA GOVERNMENT PLANS CAMPAIGN TO BOOST POPULATION

Dominion Takes Steps to Meet Problems of Increasing Immigration; Wants Farmers

OTTAWA—The Canadian government has now decided that the time is ripe for an aggressive but selective immigration policy. Most of the present problems of Canada are problems of population. Canada today possesses the physical machinery for three her present population, and until the latter is doubled or trebled, her transportation system will demand not only heavy rates but a serious annual drain upon the taxpayer.

Again, life on the northwestern prairies is almost intolerable for many people until close settlement makes feasible a reasonable medium of social activities.

In view of these facts the immigration returns for the current year, which show a falling off of almost 50 per cent from 1921, and are pitifully small in comparison with 1910-14 figures, have aroused general disquietude, and popular pressure has extracted from the government the announcement of a new immigration policy.

Farmers Sought, Especially

The federal immigration department will work in close co-operation with the provincial authorities, and regular conferences will be held to coordinate their activities. Open arms will be extended only to people who are prepared to engage in agriculture or domestic service, but special efforts will be made to secure the latter in much greater numbers than are now coming in.

Attempts will be made to allure back to Canada some of the many thousands of Canadians who have migrated south of the international boundary in late years, and a scheme is being worked out to bring out each year a large contingent of British boys and girls in their teens who will be placed in good farm homes and trained for rural life.

A year ago there was formed in the west an organization called the Canada Colonization association, which had for its avowed object the settlement of vacant prairie lands; it raised $1,500,000 for its work, the chief contributors being manufacturing and financial institutions in eastern Canada.

Want Selected Settlers
It proposed to obtain selected settlers from Britain and the United States, direct them to good land which they could buy at reasonable rates, help them with expert advice during their early years of struggle, and organize welfare work among them.

Owners of vacant land have been invited to list their holdings with the association for sale on a thirty-two year payment basis.

The results of the association's work so far have not been visible in the immigration returns, but its hopes have revived with the inauguration of the British government's overseas settlement scheme, with which it proposes to co-operate. Now the Canadian government has agreed to enter into a sort of alliance with this organization.

Meanwhile a survey will be made of all countries from which suitable immigrants might be secured, and there are signs that their unemployment problems may make countries like Holland and Switzerland, which have frowned upon Canadian immigration, more receptive.

gration propaganda in recent years, more disposed to encourage it. No mention, however, is made in the governmental statement of central European plan, which Sir Clifford Sifton and other experts regard as the best reservoir after the western United States for agricultural settlers for the Canadian west.

The government is evidently afraid that a further influx of natives of Poland and Ruthenia, which might include large numbers of Jews, would be unpopular.

LUMBERMEN LOOKING FOR A PROSPEROUS YEAR FOR INDUSTRY

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Lumbermen in northern Wisconsin are anticipating a prosperous year for the lumber industry, because of the strong demand for wood products, according to a letter received from the legislative and transportation committee of the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood association, having extensive interests in the north.

"The outlook is cheerful and satisfactory as to present and prospective business," A. L. Osborn, chairman of the committee, says. He forecasts an increase of 50 per cent in the costs of logging, due to increased costs of wages and transportation.

QUERIES ON SUPPORT. OF K. K. K. BRING NO REPLY FROM BLAINE

Governor Opposed to Klan But Refuses to Inject Issue Into Badger Campaign

MADISON, Wis.—The executive office reports that Governor Blaine has made no reply either to the letter of Mrs. E. R. Bowler of Sheboygan, asking that he state whether he accepted the endorsement of the American voters' league, reported to be a Ku Klux Klan organization during the primary election campaign. Neither has the governor replied to a similar query from the Democratic state central committee, according to his office.

Recently Governor Blaine declared his opposition to the Ku Klux Klan and to its activities, but he is said to have felt that there was no occasion for injecting the Klan into Wisconsin politics. As a consequence the Democratic queries have gone unanswered.

It is said 68,000,000 persons in the United States suffer from eye trouble.

MANSLAUGHTER IS VERDICT IN TRIAL OF MRS. CHAMPION

Ohio Woman Sentenced to Pen for Twenty Years for Killing of Carnival Promoter

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—Mrs. Mabel Champion, charged with the first degree murder of Thomas A. O'Connell, carnival promoter of New Haven, Conn., in a restaurant here last July, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury composed of seven women and five men in common pleas court here Thursday night.

Judge Bernon immediately imposed the maximum sentence of twenty years in the Ohio penitentiary. Motion for a new trial was denied by Judge Bernon.

Weeps at Verdict

The composure with which Mrs. Champion has watched the progress of the trial forsook her when the verdict was read and she broke down and cried.

Mrs. Champion went on trial October 22. The case went to the jury late Thursday.

O'Connell was shot to death while he and a Champion, husband of Mrs. Champion, were engaged in a first fight, following an argument over a drink of whisky.

On the witness stand Mrs. Champion admitted firing the fatal shot, but swore they were fired by accident when O'Connell lunged toward her and seized her arm. She said she fired once into the floor in an attempt to frighten O'Connell as he battled with her husband.

Called Cold Blooded Murderess

The state's witnesses testified that Mrs. Champion had risen from her seat, held the revolver at her hip and cried to her husband: "Stand aside, Daddy, and I'll riddle him with bullets."

Edward C. Stanton, county prosecutor, described her to the jury as a "cold blooded murderess."

Mrs. Champion, telling her life's story on the witness stand, said she was married in Brownsville, Texas, in 1917, and had lived there since, with the exception of the time she and her husband had been in business in Indianapolis, Kansas City, Missouri, California, New Mexico and Kansas.

Mrs. Champion was sobbing when she was led from the court room to the cell. All of the seven women jurors were in tears and many of the spectators also were visibly affected.

ROOM FOR BUT ONE THOUGHT

"Henry Waterson," said a Louisville editor, "was a gourmand—a fin gourmet, as the French put it—but he hated gluttony like sin."

"Gluttons," he claimed, "couldn't keep their minds off their stomachs. He said he once visited an English lord, and the smoking room of the castle was crowded with trophies of the lord's skill in the hunting field."

"A fat glutton was among the party. He, with the rest, admired the fine display of antlers—horns of the mountain sheep, the elk, the antelope, the wild goat, moose and so on. Then there were skins—bear skins, lion skins, tiger skins. And stuffed birds—pheasants, woodcock, wild turkey, wild duck."

"My lord," said the glutton, "tell me—did you eat all this yourself?"

—West Salem Nonpareil Journal.

A campaign against the pests, is planned.

Man must work. That is certain as the sun. But he may work grudgingly; or he may work gratefully; he may work as a man, or he may work as a machine. He cannot always choose his work, but he can do it in a generous temper, and with an unflinching heart. There is no work so rude that he may not exalt it; there is no work so impressive that he may not breathe a soul into it; there is no work so dull that he may not enliven it.—Henry Giles.

STUDENTS CONVICTED OF TICKET SCALPING WILL BE EXPELLED

Prices Demanded by Bold Scalpers Reaches $25 Two Days Before Game

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Speculators scalping tickets to the Minnesota Wisconsin football game here Saturday were reported trying to "get from under" the avalanche of investigations their activities has caused and are in many cases trying to sell their tickets for the $3 each, they paid.

Prices demanded by the bolder scalpers, however, reached $25 two days before the game.

University authorities declared any student convicted of scalping or assisting in the evil, will be expelled from school.

Not a Feminist

The new woman establishment officer of the London postoffice, Miss Ruth Loch, is settling down to her duties. She has to supervise the work of some 70,000 women in all the departments of the postoffice. For this she receives a salary equivalent to $4,000 a year. She quite frankly says that she is not a feminist, and is inclined to think that the public still prefers to deal with men.

"Spices and Drugs"

The earliest-known mention of an apothecary dates back to 1253, when Bardsley, in his "English Surnames," writes: "The Mayor of York was one John Le Espicor, aut. Apothecarius." This would indicate that the terms "spicer" and "apothecary" were then synonymous.

OPENING OF DEER HUNTING SEASON BUT 10 DAYS OFF

Wisconsin Conservation Commission Ready to See that Laws are Obeyed

FOURTEEN MEN TO ASSIST WARDEN GRAY THIS FALL

Season to Open November 13 and Close on 22nd

ASHLAND, Wis.—With the opening of the deer hunting season only ten days off, the Wisconsin conservation commission is ready to see that the laws are obeyed. Only one buck can be killed by each hunter, and for five days previous to the open season, no guns are allowed to be carried unless knocked down, or in a case and unloaded.

Conservation Warden W. T. Gray of Ashland has received word from headquarters that he will have fourteen men to assist him this fall. These men reported to him at Ashland and Bayfield county. The season will open November 13 and close November 22. The lowest deer hunting out of season is $50, the hunter's gun is confiscated and his license taken away from him, and he cannot get another for a year.

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Deer in northern Wisconsin are rapidly diminishing in number, according to hunters and residents of Douglas county. This year deer will be more scarce than ever before, and there is much talk among sportsmen of a closed season for several years in order to permit greater reproduction of game.

Close to 3,000 hunting licenses have been taken out thus far this season for the annual quest of deer, which starts November 13. Last year 4,100 licenses were issued. This mark probably will be passed during the present year, according to County Clerk W. J. Leader.

More than 100 women, mostly rural residents of the county, have been granted licenses.

WHITE SUPREMACY

They were a couple of ex-doughboys, but had been out of the army so long that they had forgotten the discomforts of hiking and fighting and freezing and starving and all the rest of it, and remembered only the good times and the first-for-all existence. Civilian life had become so monotonous that they decided something had to be done about it.

"Let's hear it for China," suggested one. "There's a good war going on and there ought to be some excitement, because they got three armies."

"No," objected the other. "Let's go to Ireland. They got one army there per capita."—American Legion Weekly.

NO ANTIQUE RUGS IN SMYRNA

The antique rugs of Smyrna have entirely disappeared. It is said to be impossible to find a rug there that is more than twenty years old. Of course this fact is concealed from prospective buyers by various tricks which make the rug look like one of ancient origin, but the deception becomes apparent after a short time. The rug business of that country has been all "shot up" by the war and the prospects are that good specimens of Smyrna rugs will soon be rare and valuable. While one hears Oriental rugs referred to generally as Turkish, the fact is that the rugs of Turkey are the coarsest and most indifferent from every standpoint. It was the Armenians who did the best work in rug weaving and next to these are the Greeks.

BOTH FORGETFUL

A certain young man wrote the following letter to a prominent business firm, ordering a razor:

Dear Sirs—Please find enclosed 50c for one of your razors as advertised and oblige.

JOHN JONES.

P. S.—I forgot to enclose the 50c but no doubt a firm of your high standing will send the razor anyway. The firm addressed received the letter and replied as follows:

Dear Sir—Your most valued order received the other day and will say in reply that we are sending the razor as per request, and hope that it will prove satisfactory.

P. S.—We forgot to enclose the razor, but no doubt a man with your cheek will have no need of it.—The Associated Grower (Fresno).

NATION MAY HAVE DEFICIT DESPITE SAVING IN BUDGET

Secretary of Treasury Not as Optimistic as Harding Over Chance of Avoiding Shortage

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is not so optimistic as President Harding that the threatened $300,000,000 government deficit for the current fiscal year will be entirely avoided, it was disclosed Thursday.

Early in the week the president let it be known that he was confident that the deficit would be avoided by budget economy, but at the treasury Secretary Mellon was reported as unwilling to commit himself on the subject of a total wiping out of the deficit.

High officials declared that progress was being made in reducing expenditures to as small a total as possible, but it was indicated that there probably would still be a deficit on June 30, 1923.

Prepared to Get Funds

In this connection it was indicated that the treasury was prepared to obtain in the market the funds necessary to make up whatever difference may exist without disturbing the refunding of the short term debt.

An increase in the public debt of more than $255,000,000 during October was shown in a treasury statement Thursday. It was caused by the issuance of securities in excess of redemptions, officials explained. Customs receipts during October amounted to $40,135,835, an unusually high total. On the basis of this total E. W. Camp, chief of customs, said he believed that customs receipts for the fiscal year 1923 will amount to $145,000,000, as against an estimate of $350,000,000.

"There have been a few months when customs receipts exceeded $40,000,000," said Mr. Camp. "However, it always has been during a period just in advance of the enactment of the tariff law, when imports were abnormally large."

After Tariff Bill's Passage

"The October customs receipts represent imports which have come in since the enactment of the new tariff law. The figures indicate that the new tariff law is not prohibitive and is resulting in an increase in revenue."

"One-third of the fiscal year has gone by, during which customs receipts have amounted to $107,000,000. If the total for the remaining two-thirds was equal to the first four months the total for the year would be $510,000,000. In estimating $145,000,000 I have allowed for a falling off in the latter months."

INDIA SCENE OF WHITESIDE PLAY HERE NOVEMBER 20

Walker Whiteside and his modern mystery detective melodrama, "The Hindu," will come to the La Crosse theatre Monday, Nov. 20. The scenes of "The Hindu" are laid in India and the story has to do with the abduction of a beautiful English woman, the theft of a huge moonstone and a tragic uprising of the natives. Also for good measure, as Alexander Woolcott, dramatic critic of the New York Times said, there are "chest lids that open with no hand near them—chairs and gongs that explode and hiss when disturbed, and a rousing finish."

Mr. Whiteside's well remembered successes have been "The Melting Pot," "The Typhoon," "Mr. Wu," "The Little Brother" and "The Master of Ballantrae."

INFANT MORTALITY IN LONDON SHOWS A NOTABLE DECREASE

Dire Predictions of Alarmists Cease With New Birth Reports

LONDON.—Only a little while ago alarmists were indulging in all sorts of dire predictions concerning the future of England because, it was alleged, not enough babies were being born. The great middle class, called the backbone of the country, was declared by some pessimists to be doomed to speedy extinction unless it produced more babies.

Now these lamentations have ceased. Some far-seeing and logical statistician points out that the future of a country is not determined so much by the number of babies born as by the number of babies which survive the first year of life and grow up. Looked at from that angle England is not doing so badly in this all important matter.

During the month of August, it is pointed out, that the death rate of children under one year of age was only 41 per 1,000 births. In 1919 London's rate for the same period was 55.

Compared with the beginning of this century the baby-saving figures give still greater cause for rejoicing among those who reckon the future of England depends, above all things, on babies. The first four weeks of August, 1901, gave an infant mortality rate for London of 267—more than six times that of 1922 which proves, it is argued, that if babies can save England, England will be saved.

GERMANY IN BETTER SHAPE TO WAGE NEW WAR THAN BRITAIN

Republic Producing Heavily Essential Ingredient of Ammunition

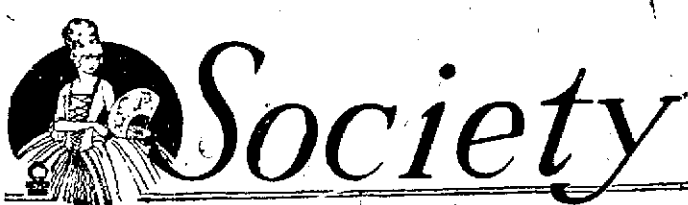

LONDON.—Germany today is in a far better position to wage another war than is Great Britain, England is disarming her ammunition plants, while Germany is increasing her production of ammunition. This statement has been made before the British association by Dr. J. A. Markker, formerly director of research in the ministry of munitions.

Dr. Markker declared he was not an alarmist, but simply recited facts as he saw them. In 1913 Germany produced 26,000 tons of nitrogen chiefly for agricultural purposes, he said, while the smaller Germany of today has produced more than twice this amount.

"At the end of this year Germany will have at her disposal," Dr. Markker went on, "an internal capacity for producing 200,000 tons of nitrogen a year. This will make her entirely independent of all nitrate importation, and in case of another war she will have all the basic materials for a gigantic output of munitions and enough fertilizer to grow a large share of her food."

"It may be justifiable," he concluded, "for the allies to allow our late enemies to put themselves in so strong a position so soon after the war, but it may also be that those whose function it is to see that some, at any rate, of the provisions of the peace treaty are carried into effect, are not aware of what is happening."

85TH BIRTHDAY OF MRS. CARL KINDER CELEBRATED MONDAY

MRS. L. F. TOWNE of Minneapolis arrived Monday to be present at the celebration of the eighty-fifth anniversary of the birth of her mother, Mrs. Carl Kinder, 721 North Ninth street. Senator Speaks in Behalf of Shipstead for Senate; Hits at Kellogg

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Denunciation of the American press, "Wall Street," the tariff and Senator Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota occupied the attention of Senator R. M. La Follette of Wisconsin, who spoke here Thursday night in the interest of Dr. Henrik Shipstead farmer labor candidate for the United States senate from Minnesota.

The greater part of Senator La Follette's address was devoted to an attack on the newspapers, which he declared were "perverted." He insisted that the "perverted" of the press would be made a national issue, or the papers would "go out of business."

Senator La Follette will end his speech-making campaign in Minnesota Friday night with an address at St. Paul.

BADGERS DEPART FOR GOPHER CAMP CRIPPLED BUT CONFIDENT

WISCONSIN TEAM IN FIRST STIFF GAME OF SEASON

Two Thousand Students Take Aggregation to Train in Huge Demonstration

TO HOLD SECRET PRACTICE AT NORTHRUP FIELD FRIDAY

Despite Injuries Team is in Good Running Order

MADISON, Wis.—Crippled but confident, the University of Wisconsin football team left Thursday night for Minneapolis, where it will meet Minnesota Saturday on Northrup field, in the Badger's first hard game of the season.

Not Full Strength
With Murry, star tackle, at least temporarily out of the game because of his questioned eligibility, and Harris, plunging halfback, injured so seriously he will be unable to play for the remainder of the season, the Wisconsin team was far from its full strength. In addition both Captain Williams and Gibson, fullbacks, are only recovering from serious hurts.

Two thousand students took the team to the train Thursday night and gave them a demonstration that brought assurances from the players that they were coming back with the Gophers' bacon. Despite injuries to the squad it is in the best running order of the season and prepared for anything Minnesota has to offer.

Secret drill today
In the last workout at Camp Randall, Coach Richards sent the varsity through a shadow scrimmage with the Freshmen, who used Minnesota players. The team will hold secret drill at Minneapolis Friday.

PRESBYTERIANS WIN THREE GAMES FROM WEST AVENUE M. E.

Winning three games from the West Avenue Methodists Thursday night, the Presbyterians brought their total of games won up on a par with the First Methodists, who split even with the First Methodist second team, winning one each and tying the third.

The Bethel Lutherans won three from the North Presbyterian second team. The First Congregational, Calcedonia Methodists and First Baptists won two out of three from the Congregational seconds. English Lutherans and Salzer Memorial.

WESTERN CONFERENCE AGOG OVER NEW FOOTBALL SCANDAL BANISHING TWO ATHLETES

Wisconsin Contends that Murry is Still Eligible in Conference Athletics; Huff Charges Badgers With Violation of Conference Rule

CHICAGO, Ill.—With athletic relations between the Universities of Wisconsin and Illinois strained as a result of Thursday's cryptic exchange of charges of professionalism against football players of both schools and the banishment from Big Ten athletics of a player from each team, the western conference was agog Friday over its newest football scandal, aftermath of the notorious Carlville-Taylorville game last fall.

Still Eligible Say Badgers
Wisconsin authorities contended that the action of the conference eligibility board in barring J. A. B. Murry, Badger tackle, was unjustified because Murry was not registered as a student and was not attending any school when he played in the Taylorville game last year, the game which caused such a sensation last winter when nine Illinois players and several Badger men were barred on charges of professionalism as a result of disclosures made by college authorities in their investigation.

"He has produced evidence that he received no money for playing and Wisconsin insists that he is still eligible," says the Wisconsin statement. Allison L. Augur, the Illinois player, was banished Thursday, admitted playing at Taylorville, but not in the famous game over which the trouble started.

Coach Richards of Wisconsin said he would protest four other players—Green, Yates, Robinson and Durant. Director Huff in his statement said Wisconsin refused Green, the Illinois center, with Earl Greene, who played coach last year and who was barred for playing at Taylorville.

Huff Criticizes Badgers
The most severe criticism of Wisconsin was made by George Huff, veteran athletic director at Illinois, who accused Wisconsin of violating conference rules and in making public the charges against the Illinois players.

Director Huff charged that Wisconsin had known since September that Murry played in the Taylorville game. In line with the agreement to drive professionalism out of the Big Ten, Illinois filed its information against Murry last September. Director Huff asserted, and kept the charges secret pending the investigation. The Illinois director said his school imagined Wisconsin would be glad to have the investigation, adding that Murry was retained on the Badger squad and played in conference games "much to the surprise of Illinois."

Mr. Huff furthermore revealed the fact that Illinois banned a promising football candidate in September, Mullins, without publicity, when it was learned he had played at Taylorville.

The four other Illinois men who Wisconsin said would be protested, denied charges of professionalism and were declared innocent, but Illinois authorities demanded that Wisconsin produce any evidence it may possess against them.

No Comment by Griffith
Major J. L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the Western conference, declined to comment on the situation. He assumed the role of commissioner when it was created last June, months after the Taylorville-Carlville disclosures and the wholesale banishment at Illinois and Notre Dame.

According to the Wisconsin statement, Major Griffith took the position that he had no jurisdiction because the offenses were committed before he became commissioner.

SPORT BRIEFS
CHICAGO.—Pitcher Mike Pendergast, formerly of the Philadelphia Nationals, was reinstated by Commissioner Landis.

CHICAGO, Ill.—Commissioner Landis announced that Pitcher Jack Bentley of Baltimore cost the Giants $60,000 and three players.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Strangler Lewis, world's champion heavyweight wrestler, beat Demetrius Tofalos of Greece.

Not Alone Famous as Poet
Omar Khayyam, the Persian poet-philosopher, author of the Rubaiyat, who died in 1123 was known in his own day as a great mathematician and astronomer and was the author of the standard work on algebra—Merrill Daily Herald.

AMERICAN LEGION BOXING CARNIVAL ON MONDAY NIGHT

Arrangements all Made for Second Show of Local Legion Post

BOXING fans of La Crosse and the surrounding territory are to be treated to a first class show next Monday night, November 6, when the Royal Vipers Post of the American Legion stages its second boxing carnival. The show has been advertised in the city and towns surrounding for several days past and a record crowd is expected to flock to Yeomen hall on Monday night.

Word has been received from the managers of Joe Ketchel of Chicago and Johnny Marino of Minneapolis, bantam weights who are to appear in the ten round wind-up event, that their charges are in good shape for the fight. Ketchel was scheduled to arrive in the city on Friday and Marino Saturday. They will complete their training here.

Buddy Reynolds has been working out in the normal gym for his six round semifinal with Chris Gouroux, the Plambeau scrapper, and both are said to be in prime condition.

Frank Martin, normal school student and athlete, will be matched against Jim O'Connell in one of the preliminary bouts. He like most of the others has had a great deal of boxing experience in the army, and has fought several times since his discharge. He is also a wrestler of considerable ability. Martin and Reynolds have been working out in the normal gym for several days. O'Connell, known as the "Altoona Fireman," comes highly recommended by Mr. Hart, of the state athletic commission. He is a rugged battler who is sure to give a good account of himself.

In the other prelim Charles Sauer of Iokah and Young Gaskill of this city will battle for fistie supremacy. Sauer is well known locally as a clean cut fighter with a lot of experience. Besides boxing in the army, he appeared in several exhibitions around Iokah and Lansing. He easily outclassed Freddie Vingers of La Crosse in a bout at Iokah last summer. Gaskill, his opponent, is fighting his first professional fight, but he secured quite a bit of experience in ring craft while in the service. He has been working out faithfully for his bout Monday, and has a host of friends who are sure that he will make a good showing.

Tickets for the show are on sale at the S and H Cigar store, the Bodega Club and Wittenberg's Cigar store.

MENDELSON AND TENDLER ALL SET FOR MIX TONIGHT

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Left Tandler, Philadelphia lightweight and Johnny Mendelson, local 135-pound champion, are all set for their ten round no decision bout here Friday night. Both boys finished their training in this city and both made the stipulated weight, 135 pounds without difficulty. Both of the boys hold decisions over Richie Mitchell, who for years was a leading contender for the title and Milwaukee's champion. The experts do not give Mendelson much chance against the easterner, having installed Tandler as a 5 to 1 favorite.

PENN STATE AND NAVY BATTLE AT WASHINGTON TODAY

WASHINGTON.—Penn State and Navy met here Friday in the first football classic to be played in the national capital in many years. American league park had been converted into a huge amphitheatre with seats for 50,000. Members of the cabinet, high navy and army officers and many others in official life were numbered among the spectators.

MAROON AND GRAY INVADES NORTH FRIDAY FOR CRUCIAL BATTLE WITH RIVER FALLS

COACH Keeler and his band of grid-iron warriors Friday carried the banner of the Maroon and Gray into the north where they were to come forth today in a crucial battle of the normal conference at River Falls.

Coach Keeler and many of the local players planned on making the trip to Minneapolis for the Wisconsin-Minnesota game on Saturday.

The game at River Falls today is one of the milestones the local eleven must pass in order to go up against Oshkosh undefeated and to lay claim to the state title among the conference teams. Keeler's squad is not seriously handicapped because of injuries today and is prepared to present a smashing offensive play which characterized that of the Chicago Y. M. C. A. game here last week.

The northerners have never been considered an easy obstacle to dispose of and their 3 to 0 defeat of Stout two weeks ago gives evidence of a fighting aggression and a dangerous one when within kicking distance, turns out famous Indian end, who has been with the Northerners for a number of years, is alone a man to be feared for it was he who

MARTINEAU RAISES HOPES OF GOPHERS FOR WIN SATURDAY

"French Flash" Passes, Kicks and Runs With Equal Ability

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Figures compiled here Friday show that Halfback Earl Martineau, the Gopher "French Flash," has run back punts for a total of 286 yards and has skirted his opponents' ends for 173 yards in the three Big Ten conference games played by the University of Minnesota during this football season.

Although he has yet to score a point for the Gophers in a conference game, Martineau scored a touchdown on a blocked kick in the North Dakota game and has many times carried the ball within easy scoring distance by sensational twisting runs from formations and on returning punts.

"Marty" passes, kicks or runs with equal ability and his all around play is quite a factor in raising hopes among the Minnesota followers for a victory over Wisconsin here on Saturday.

Experiments show that mosquitoes prefer the blood of rabbits to any other animal.

CROWELL-PREDICTS BEER AND WINES WILL COME BACK

Former Aide to Secretary of War Says it is Question of Majority Rule

CLEVELAND, Ohio—Beer and light wines will be restored to America within a short time as a result of America's recentment against a drastic and extreme law, according to Benedict Crowell, former assistant secretary of war, and wealthy Cleveland contractor and builder.

"This is a question of majority rule," declares Crowell. "There is no issue of religion; no personalities are involved."

"Indignation against the drastic Volstead act and the widespread debauchery following it has spread until throughout America the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment has started a fight for restoration of constitutional rights."

"Heretofore, as in the present campaign, the Anti-Saloon League and its allies have put the mark of disrepute upon anybody opposing them—class, race, all who might differ as 'saloon interests.' This keeps silent many men and women of highest character."

"Now, however, an aroused public opinion has brought representative citizens of America to start the present campaign. Its objective is not return of saloons but the right to drink beer and light wines. Any person in any way connected with the liquor business is barred from membership in the association, in so far as this can possibly be done."

Vote on Question in Two States
In Ohio and Illinois the voters will call on a clean-cut issue—modification of the prohibition laws. Crowell is chairman of the executive committee directing the Ohio campaign.

The result will be threefold, according to proponents of the Ohio measure—to legalize light wines and beer.

It will register definitely the war and dry sentiment of Ohio through one clean-cut issue. It will give Congressmen an ideal demonstration of the will of the majority.

And if modification of the Volstead act comes within a short time, as Crowell predicts, it will place Ohio in position to benefit by the change without the delay of a fight in the legislature, or another submitting of the question to the voters.

"Prohibition has been before the American people for 160 years," continued Crowell. "There have been alternating waves of sentiment both for and against it. Under the stress of wartime hysteria, with millions of voters with the colors and out of the country, the swing for prohibition carried farther than usual. Advantage was taken of this to enact a drastic, very foolish law."

"The swing toward moderation is now under way. The majority feels that it was taken advantage of, and it wants a change.

Urges a Middle Course
"America has had religious and other controversies in the past and has settled them through adopting the sensible middle course of not allowing one group to fasten its personal beliefs on the rest of the people. Why not adopt the same method toward the liquor question?"

"There may be some persons getting intoxicated—a difficult thing to do, by the way—with beer and light wines—but the whole people should not be punished for the weaknesses of the few. There is nothing inherently wrong in taking a drink occasionally. Better respect for the law, a return of contentment and elimination of the bootlegger will be the result of moderation, without return of the old-time saloon."

"This nation's fight is the result of America's adherence to a law making a criminal out of any person taking a drink. The best people of America know this is no moral crime. So far from supporting the law, they have more stuff in their cellars than in the westland days."

"The net result has been the greatest debauchery in America's history—open defiance of law, shameful corruption of public officials, and poisoning of people, with as much liquor coming in as people can buy."

Rich Get Liquor; Poor Get Poison
"The rich get good liquor. The poor get poisoned. The general result is discontent that is gradually becoming serious unrest."

"Any such universal disregarding of a law is due to one of two things—either the law is wrong, or the people are wrong."

"The big majority, including America's best people, flout the law without compunction, so the law must be wrong."

"And that is why the representative people of America have formed the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment to bring about, not a return of the saloon as the 'dry' allege, but to restore the right demanded by an outraged majority."

BIG LANDOWNERS IN BRITAIN WARNED TO MEND THEIR WAYS

Country Will Take Land from them if they Don't Manage Better

LONDON—The big land owners of England have been told, in substance, that as a class they have made a bad mess of the land business and that if they did not do better in the future the country would take the land from them and turn them adrift.

The speaker was Lord Bledisloe, himself a big land owner who, during the war, helped the government manage the food supplies of the country. The occasion was an address before the British association.

"The British agricultural land owner today is on trial," Lord Bledisloe asserted. "Unless he justifies himself as such, the nationalization of the land is inevitable. Public opinion will demand his extinction, and parliament will endorse the demand."

"Many land owners have been for two generations nothing more than rent receivers, and they have possessed neither the knowledge nor the inclination personally to administer their own estates, still less to cultivate them on commercial lines for their own and the nation's benefit."

"So far as they have been organized as a class of the community, they have been organized, not as producers of wealth, but as defenders of property, and as such their organization has, in a highly democratic country, afforded them but a small and steadily decreasing measure of security. They have thus lost their political power because they had no economic basis. They have not wholly without justification, been stigmatized as ignorant, reactionary and despotic."

A Leg Amputated on the Street
Fred Grant, a nine-year-old boy of London, was knocked down and run over by an automobile and his leg was caught in part of the mechanism so that it was impossible to extricate him. The boy bravely gave directions by which he thought he might be released, but it was finally decided that the only hope was to amputate the leg. This was done by three physicians who were summoned to the spot. The surgeon who did the work was compelled to work while lying upon his back with hardly room to move.

A new lemon, larger than a grapefruit has been developed.

CALL CONFERENCE OF CEMENT BLOCK INDUSTRY IN STATE

MADISON, Wis.—The Wisconsin industrial commission Friday called a conference on concrete block industry regulation to be held at the capitol, November 14. The meeting will consider "the advisability of adopting more detailed specifications for the manufacture of concrete blocks, determine a classification of blocks and gather data affecting the industry."

Concrete block manufacturers contend that good blocks should be classed with hollow clay tile in fire resisting qualities and stability. They say that 55 per cent of the blocks should be permitted to be hollow instead of 33 and one-third per cent as at present.

REPORT OF CHANGES TO CO-OP SOCIETIES REQUIRED BY STATE

MADISON, Wis.—All corporations converting themselves into co-operative associations must file a certificate showing the change, within the 30 day period set by the statutes or after the expiration of that time. Attorney General Morgan held Friday.

He advised Elmer S. Hall, secretary of state, that the change to a co-operative association "involves a fundamental change in the organic law of the corporation and is an amendment of its articles, and not only has the corporation a right to file now the certificate it should have filed earlier, but it could be compelled by mandamus to file it."

JOGGING HIS MEMORY

It was a thrilling story that McGregor had to tell. "I had abandoned all hope," he said. "As I sunk for the third time my life seemed to rise before me in a series of grim, realistic pictures." A murmur of sympathy rolled from the lips of listening friends, but just as McGregor was preparing to resume, McTavish interrupted him sharply and hopefully.

"And did you happen to notice," he asked, "a picture of me landing you a fiver in the autumn of 1910?"—The Continent (Chicago).

STATE HAS MILLION LESS IN TREASURY THAN ON OCTOBER 1

Expenses of Government Must be Met from Reserve Funds During Next Few Months

MADISON, Wis.—The Wisconsin state treasury on November 1 had a balance of $11,718,724 on hand, or nearly $1,000,000 less than on October 1. Henry Johnson, state treasurer, announced Friday. Disbursements for the month amounted to $8,537,497, and receipts totalled $2,854,411.

There was $8,833,555 in the general fund from which most state activities are run. Expenditures from this fund totalled $2,342,110, mostly to meet highway costs, and receipts amounted to $1,795,123. Expenditures from the service recognition fund amounted to $47,431, leaving a balance of $880,974. The state general hospital is being constructed out of this money.

The expenses of Wisconsin's government will have to be carried on during the next few months from the reserve funds now held by the treasury and deposited in banks throughout the state.

FUNDS OF STATE HANDLED WITH EXTREME CARE

Handling of Money Accomplished With Discrepancy of Only Two Cents

MADISON, Wis.—State funds are handled with care, with such scrupulous care, Henry Johnson, state treasurer, says, that in two years of his tenure, a difference of but two cents was found between state accounts and those of banks with which it was doing business.

Writing to the state treasurer, the president of one large banking institution said, "In compliance with your letter we have debited your account with the sum of two cents, thus adjusting the difference between our statement and your books."

"I wonder if voters of the state realize how carefully public money is handled. When one stops to think of the many thousands of dollars that have gone through this account and a two cent adjustment is all that is necessary at the end of a two year period, the record is indeed remarkable."

Treasurer Johnson says that under the present system of handling public funds there is no opening for a leak of any kind.

Good Tip for Amateur Carpenter

To drive nails near the edge of the wood without splitting, the nails should have their points blunted by tapping the ends lightly with a hammer while resting the heads on a piece of iron. Treated in this manner, the nail, when driven, pushes the wood fibers before it, preventing splitting, whereas the sharp-pointed nail pushes the fibers of the wood to the sides, causing a tendency to split.

Broadway Follies Held Different from First Two of Units

De Haven and Nice and Joe Towle have devised a unique entertainment in "Broadway Follies," the musical comedy which forms an important part of Shubert Vaudeville at the La Crosse Theater matinee and night Wednesday Nov. 5th. Running more than an hour, the novel vaudeville revue is said to be not only heard new but entirely "different," and has for its principal players several well-known headliners including De Haven and Nice, Joe Towle, Mr. and Mrs. Melburn, an added attraction, and Margaret Merle, the prima donna. In addition there are a score of pretty girls.

In addition to "Broadway Follies" there are six acts of Shubert Vaudeville provided by De Haven and Nice, the "backyard" entertainers. Joe Towle in his own peculiar entertainment, an added attraction in Mr. and Mrs. Melburn who present their laughable skit, "On the Sleeping Porch," Margaret Merle, in a song surprise, The Broadway Flappers and "Entertaining the Shells," which introduces Ben Alali's Arabian Demos. In planning Shubert Vaudeville, the only real novelty the stage has had in a generation, every effort was made to avoid any similarity between the entertainment offered by the various units and "Broadway Follies" is announced as very much different. Two of these new kinds of theatrical offerings already have played here successfully and this coming unit is said to be fully up to the standard of its predecessors but offers an entirely different kind of entertainment, having gone in more for laughs.

FOURTEEN COUNTIES COMPLETE TUBERCULIN TESTS AMONG CATTLE

BIRCHWOOD, Wis. — Fourteen Wisconsin counties soon will be listed as having completed county-wide tuberculin tests among cattle. Work is either completed or about completed in Barron, Bayfield, Ashland, Douglas, Washburn, Chippewa, Price, Rusk, Sawyer, Iron, Oshkosh and Lincoln counties. Some tests are to be made in Vilas county and the work in Eau Claire county is well under way. Barron county was the first area in the United States to banish tuberculosis from its herds.

STUDENT DRIVER OF TRUCK TO BE TRIED FOR MANSLAUGHTER

RICE LAKE, Wis. — Richard Andery, high school student, who drove the truck which fatally injured Joseph Bergerson, insurance agent, will be tried at the next term of circuit court of Barron county on a charge of first degree manslaughter. Andery has been released on $5,000 bail. Bergerson was injured when he left his car to go to the assistance of another car in a ditch and failed to see the truck approaching.

NEW YORK PRODUCTION HERE

"Just Married" with Sylvia DeFrankie and Owen Martin, will come to the La Crosse Theater one night Monday Nov. 6, direct from another sensational run in Chicago all summer, which followed its notable New York success of over a year at the Nora Hayes theater. "Just Married" is by Adelaide Matthews and Anna Nichols, the authors of "Scrambled Wives" and "Nightie Night." Miss DeFrankie before going into pictures, four years ago, made distinct successes in "Officer 666," "Stop Thief" and "The Only Son."

The action of "Just Married" covers seven days. All the incidents occur on shipboard, the ship being the French liner "La Fayette." Miss DeFrankie and Owen Martin will be supported by the special Nora Hayes Theater cast which includes Dorothea Howard, Fred James, Edmund Dalby, Elizabeth Kathburn, Jos. Slayton, Marie Montrie and others.

Dickens Named the Sandwich Man
A London paper had a reference recently to the forthcoming centenary of the "sandwich man." Dickens has been credited with the invention of his popular nickname. The following sentence comes in "Sketches by Boz": "So he stopped the unstamped advertisement—an animated sandwich, composed of a boy between two boards."

MOVIES

"RAGS TO RICHES" COMING
"Freckles" Wesley Barry, featured in Warner Brothers' latest production, "Rags to Riches," which comes to the Rivoli Theater beginning Sunday, cannot do the one-step, nor the can-can's walk, nor the college and Ritz. In fact he can't do modern dances at all. But he is an adept at the Virginia reel, known only to the backwoods folks and mountaineers of Virginia. Wes learned it during the filming of "Rags to Riches" from some Virginians who were brought specially to California for some scenes calling for that dance. Wes soon became quite proficient in it.

AT THE CASINO
"On the High Seas," a Paramount production, co-starring Dorothy Dalton and Jack Holt at the Casino theater, had a less-than-spectacular opening last night. There is action enough in this production to satisfy the most avid movie fan, for it includes in detail the burning and sinking of an ocean liner, the thrilling experiences of a girl and two men in an open boat in mid-ocean, their finding and running of a death-filled plague ship, the eventual sinking of the vessel by an American battleship and a fascinating kidnapping of a bride at the church door.

She was a great friend of the late Tom Watson, referring to him often in public meetings as "her boy." She was wont to scold the Georgia fire-eater, and he would meekly promise to behave.

MINE UNION OFFERS
PLAN FOR SOLUTION OF COAL PROBLEM

"Make all Mines Union" is Suggestion of United Mine Workers

PROPOSALS OF LABOR SENT TO U. S. COAL COMMISSION

Unfairness on Part of Bosses
Blamed for Much of Trouble

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Complete unionization of the coal mining industry is urged as a solution for the coal problem in a communication from the United Mine Workers of America to the United States coal commission, made public here Thursday night.

The communication, signed by Ellis
Seattle, editor of the United Mine Workers Journal; John Moore of Columbus, O., and Thomas Kennedy of Hazelton, Pa., members of a committee representing the miners' union, is in response to the request of the coal commission for suggestions as to the causes of strikes and how they may be avoided.

The committee says arrogance and unfairness on the part of mine bosses and other petty officials of coal companies are responsible for more local strikes than any other single cause.
The last two general strikes, the committee says, were brought about by the refusal of coal operators to enter into negotiations with the miners for new wage and working agreements.

Want Newspaper Investigators

It is suggested that the coal commission employ a number of trained and competent newspaper reporters as investigators in order to get the facts in regard to the causes of strikes and
in regard to the causes of strikes and to conditions under which mine-workers are employed.

"We believe more mine strikes are caused by the conduct of mine superintendents, mine bosses and other petty officials of mining companies than by any other one thing," says the committee. "As a rule, these smaller officials are employed to get results and they undertake to get these results regardless of methods or consequences. Miners will tell you, we are sure, that there would be practically no strikes in the coal industry if they could but receive fair treatment at the hands of these petty officials."

Where Trouble Arises

"In the unionized fields of the country the mines work under the terms and provisions of a wage agreement between the coal companies and the United Mine Workers of America.
That these agreements are fair in their terms cannot be questioned, because both parties signed them and it would not be consistent to say that their side would sign an onerous or unfair contract."

"No sooner is a contract signed than mine superintendents and mine bosses begin making and applying their interpretations of it. They begin trying to find where they can compel the mine workers to do something for nothing and this arouses opposition on the part of the men. Many of these petty officials absolutely refuse to hear or adjust grievances that are brought to them by their employees."

Remedy in Unionization

"Such conduct stirs up a bitterness among the men that oftentimes leads to strikes, because they are unable to obtain justice in any other way. It frequently happens that the men go to a mine boss, a mine foreman or a superintendent with a grievance that the company has violated the provisions of its agreement with them.
Wherever you find a petty official who is fair and treats the men fairly you will find the grievances are adjusted promptly without any suspension of work."

"The ultimate solution for the strike problem in the coal mining industry lies in the complete unioniza-

BIG TRUCK IS CARRIED BY TRAIN
NO ONE INJURED

WINONA, Minn.—Carried thirty feet and then tipped over against a telephone post after being struck by an eastbound Chicago Great Western train at the Sugar Loaf crossing on the Mankato avenue dike, the large bus of the Briarcombe farm was only slightly damaged and its occupants, two employees at the country home of F. S. Bell and S. L. Prentiss, and the driver, Frank Potratz, escaped with minor bruises.
The accident occurred at 3:00 p. m.

tion of the entire industry. Up to this time this thorough unionization plan has been halted by the bloody opposition of those non-union coal companies in certain fields that have resisted with bludgeon, rifle, and starvation the efforts of the United Mine Workers of America to improve the working and living conditions of their unorganized employees."

today and delayed the train about thirty minutes.
Potratz and the women occupants whose names were not learned, were on their way to the city.
The train was said to have been going slow.

At the foot of the hill Potratz noticed the approaching train and made an attempt to swerve his car to the right. He did so successfully but not until the car had reached the tracks.
The train struck the bus in the rear and carried it along the track for a distance of thirty feet, when it tipped to one side.

The windows of the bus were broken and the fenders bent, but the automobile, when again righted on Mankato avenue, was able to resume its journey to Winona on its own power.

WISCONSIN OFFICIAL AT CONFERENCE OF
U. S. LABOR EXPERTS

MADISON, Wis.—A. J. Altmeyer, secretary of the industrial commission, has just returned from a week's conference with labor experts, which was called by the Russell Sage Foundation. The purpose of this conference was to formulate a uniform plan of collecting employment statistics.
Mr. Altmeyer was chairman of a sub-committee on score and classification.

Wisconsin is the only state which has attempted to collect statistics on employment conditions in non-manufacturing lines. Those statistics are published monthly in The Wisconsin

Labor Market bulletin. The important groups of employment covered are agriculture, logging, mining and quarrying, manufacturing, building, highway construction, trade and public utilities.
